

Case Study:

1. A Customer can authorize multiple Orders.
2. Every Customer has a name, address and a unique number as key attribute.
3. Every Order can contain multiple Order items.
4. An Order has order date , shipping address , payment information and a unique number as key attribute.
5. Every Order item should contain only one product.
6. Every Order item has quantity, special options, price and discount, and it should belong to an particular Order.
7. A Product has price, type , description and a unique number as key attribute.